Company Disputes Right to Use For Irrigation.

MANY WATER USERS MADE DEFENDANTS

Alamogordo, N. M. Sent, 12-Every nob of water used for irrigation in the Sacramento mountains is in litigation. The Alamogordo Improvement company has filed suit against all water users in the mountains between Cloudcroft and Alamegordo to prevent them ap- through the lines of rioters who were propriating water from the mountain

And Alamegordo to prevent them apscopriating water from the mountain streams.

The company does not claim to own all the water, but it charges that it bought the water rights of many peopie when it acquired the lands surrounding the town of Alamogordo, and alleges that it is unable to get this water, owing to the fact that it is practically all appropriated by the farmers and fruit growers in the mountains above. In order to have the court adjudicate the matter, the company has filed a blanket sult against all users of water. Officials of the office of the territorial engineer are and this report will be filed with the court before action is taken on the sult of the company.

Users of water in the mountains are fighting the case on the grounds of prior usage for beneficial purposes and believe they will be able to hold their title. The company admits that it did not use all the water it bought and it is through this that many of the mountain water users expect to win their case. They will show that they used it and put it to a beneficial purpose and will claim that they are bona fide homesteaders, while the company was merely allowing the water to go to waste until the opportune time arrived to traffic in it, they will

Company Owns Much Land.

The Improvement company owns many acres of land, around Aiamogordo, which it hopes to sell and put under irrigation. If it wins in the water suit, it will mean more irrigated lands in the valley around Alamogordo and less in the valley around Alamogordo a provements at present on ils waterworks system, putting in new mains and strengthening and rebuilding the aqueducts of the pipe line from the mountain reservoir to the town. The reservoir is about two miles from town and brings in pure spaing water for the use of the city, as fine water as is found anywhere in the west. The company is also putting in meters for all water users and installing them in new concrete meter boxes.

The company has made some extensive improvements during the past year to its electric light plant. It is the intention eventually to operate the plant by water power and save the cost of fuel if the company wins its suit over water with the Sacramento mountain farmers and then erects the big reservoir which it contemplates.

Prevent Clashes During Elections.

REYES ASKS FOR DELAY IN ELECTION

Mexico City, Mex., Sept. 13 .- President Francisco L de la Barra la firmly convinced that in the joint peace problem of bringing about a fair and peaceful election and of preventing riots and disorders during the campaign. Partisan feeling has risen high and the Reyes demonstration, which was broken up by the rabble and which resulted in the police charging into the crowd, brought the situation to a focus. Some measures had to be taken to prevent the use of campaign methods which incited the populace to acts of violence. The president thinks he has found the solution in the committees, three from each party, which foom now until the end of the campaign will meet twice each week in Chapuitepec castle and endeavor to settle the problems which the campaign may bring forth.

To Avold Campsign Strife.
Following the first meeting of the two committees in Chapultepec castle, the president announced that conditions had been talked over and that each committee had agreed to do all in its power to see that the party leaders abstained from campaign methods which might excite their partisans and that the tone of the articles appearing in the newspapers which are regarded as the organs of the Reyes and Madero parties should no longer contain violent attacks on the opposition, the personality of the candidates, etc.

tion, the personality of the candidates, etc.

Already the effect of the work of the committees on the partisan organs is seen. Just such violent attacks appeared in the local politician organs as characterized the militant journals of the small towns in the United States a quarter of a century ago. But the attacks went even beyond that point and reached a plane which would bar the papers from the United States mails under the postal regulations in the northern republic. El Porvenir, the day before the peace commission held its first session, printed cartoons of Madero, vile in every sense of the word and an outrage on every home that the paper entered. This paper is known as the official Reyes organ. On the other hand, La Nueva Era, the Madero organ, has been breathing death and defiance at the enemy and has published several articles as nearly. The opinion is held by many politically supported that the real trouble lies with the people. The great directly with the people. The great directly with boints. In the capital it seems reasonably sure that the joint peace commission will be able to do effective work.

Mecting of Congress.

While the convening of the national congress in the past was a perfunctory event and scarcely excited passing attention on the part of the inhabitants of the capital, the public is already beginning to take an integest in the coming session, beginning September 16, and to speculate on what business will come before the senate and the chamber of deputies.

It is being rumored with persistence that the elections will be postponed by the congress, and it is an absolute certainty that great pressure will be brought to bear from more than one quarter. Political leaders of the poposition by this meaning to say the partles opposed to the Madero ticket, are a unit in admitting that the chances of an outsider would be greatly improved if the elections could be delayed for several months longer. It is admitted that the popularity of Madero has diminished since he came to the capital. His friends say that possibly this may be true in Mexico City, but that it is not true throughout the country, yet it is an admitted fact that the leaders in the interior, men who obtained a recolutionary title of general because they were in supreme command in their own section during the uprising, who are openly opposed to Madero and are working for Emelion Wazunez Gomez, who is the presidential nominee of the Pure Liberal party.

In the face of these conditions, the Reyes party and the Evolutionist party of Jorge Vera Extanol are on record that the grave irresularities alleged in the division of the states into electoral districts make it imperative that the complied with. The latest to line up with this train of argument is the Centra Antireelectionista, which has been drifting without chart or compass since Madero threw it overboard. At a recent meeting, however, a resolution was passed that congress should be urged to postpone the elections.
